100 pips per day might be sound intimidating but in reality, many traders are making more than 100 pips in a single day. They simply use the Bollinger band indicator and 3 levels ZZ semafor indicator to make this impossible thing possible in each and every single day. The Bollinger band indicators help the trader to identify the potential buying and selling zone in any currency pair.

Pips are one of the ways by which traders calculate how much profit they made or lost on a trade. For example, if you enter a long position on GBP/USD at 1.6550 and it moves to 1.6600 by the time you close your position you have made a 50 pip profit. If you enter a short position at 1.6550 and the price moves up to 1.6600 you lose 50 pips. Remember, short means you want the rate to go down. So

The pound gained about 1000 pips after another MFE-the September '07 rate cut by the Fed. It range traded for months after that and it didn't break below the support in the 1.93 area until last August. The real decline of the pound began after Lehman, which definitely was another MFE. So if you are talking about shorting it from 2.1 then no, there was no MFE there.
