The concept of financial profit gives rise to the book's title: Profiting Without Producing. Lapavitsas argues that a distinguishing feature of financialisation is that profit is generated during the process of circulation as well as production. He contrasts this with normal capitalist profit, which is derived from production.

The author is not critical of productive capital, but, as a Marxist, he regards financial capitalists as expropriators who profit without producing. The fact that many of these financial capitalists are individuals who worked productively for decades and are now retired and depend on income from said capital for living expenses is conveniently omitted.
